

Reliability Tool

Inpro/Seal® VBXX-D

There is only one Genuine "Inpro"® Bearing Isolator. It's designed and built by the Inpro/Seal® Company, the original inventor and patent holder of the first Bearing Isolator and the recognized leader in the bearing protection industry.

Inpro/Seals are non-contacting, non-wearing and therefore permanent bearing protection, compared to contact seals such as rubber lip or magnetic face seals. We even inhibit vapor transfer with our unique vapor blocking (VBX®) ring that contacts only upon equipment shut-down.

Get a handle on the reliability of your rotating equipment. We've been perfecting our product for nearly 26 years and guarantee its performance in your plant. Doubling the run-time of your pumps and motors can save you some serious money. Just ask us for our Return On Investment (ROI) spreadsheet.
